1. RECRUITMENT

Recruitment Process

At TFA Education we understand the complexities of sourcing school leaders, managers, professional subject teachers and administrative staff to work at leading international schools in Europe, Middle East and Far East Asia. We have the experience and expertise to source high quality candidates to meet your staffing needs. Our focus is to provide you with experienced applicants who meet the specific criteria required by your school.

Our management team and recruitment consultants have worked at schools internationally so they understand the industry, the challenges and how to identify great staff who have the traits needed to adapt to a new school environment. Our screening process ensures that teachers have the highest academic requirements but are also positive and enthusiastic about a new teaching opportunity with one of our client schools.

Full Service Recruitment

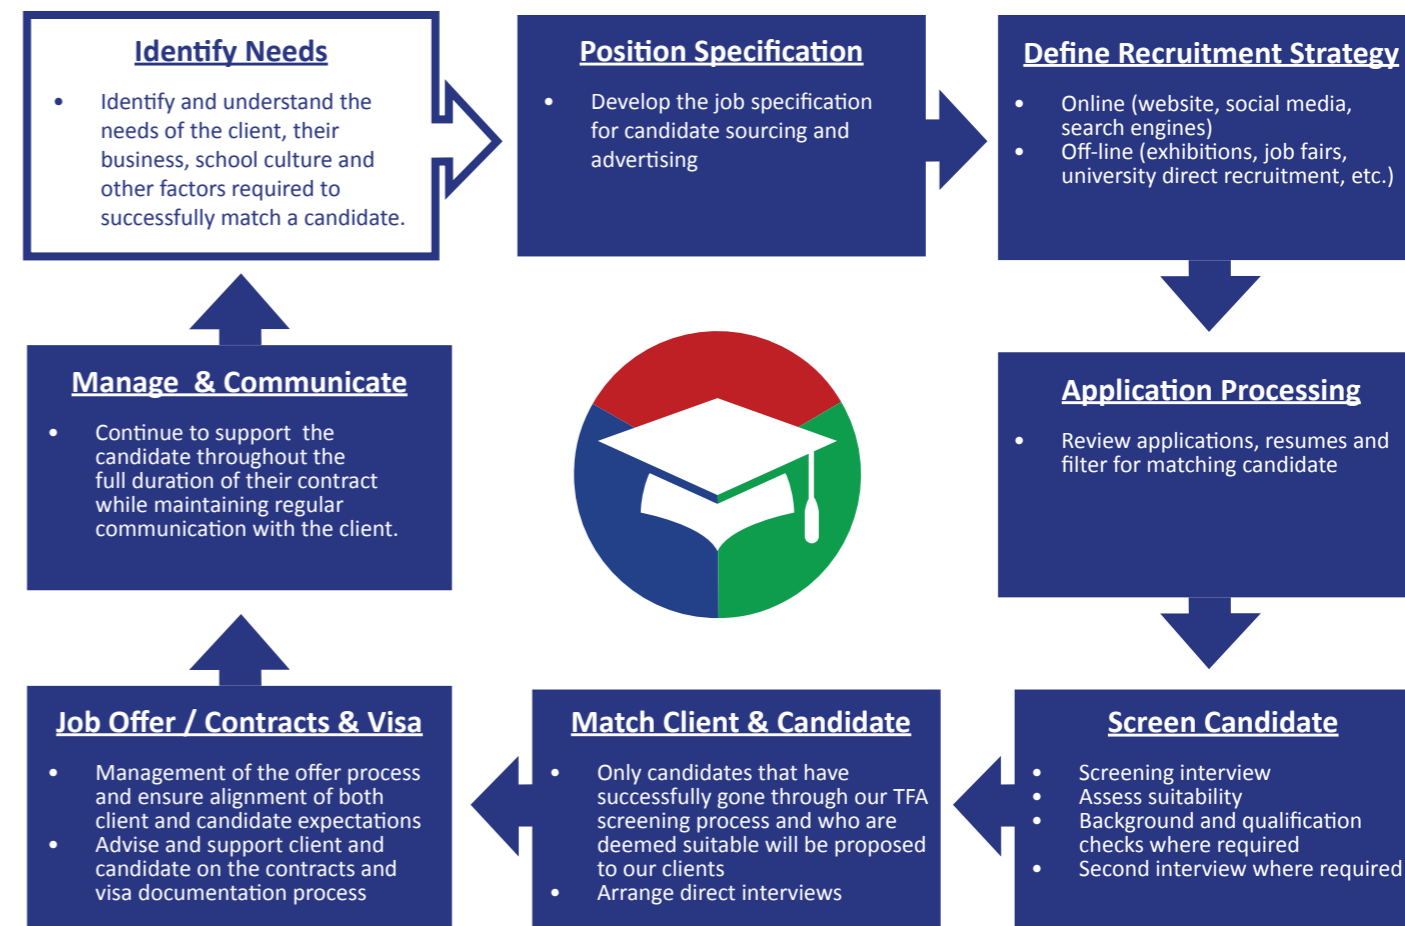

With full service recruitment, you can outsource your teacher and staff hiring process to us. We can deal with many of the important aspects of hiring quality staff to join your team, including the following:

- Sourcing the ideal candidates
- Background and qualification checks where required
- Manage interview process
- Advising candidates on visa application and document preparation
- Post-arrival support
- Ongoing contact and feedback

Who are we?

TFA Education Group is a teacher recruitment and education service provider founded in 2011. With our head office in Ireland and members of our team based on-location in Europe, North America, Middle East and Far East Asia, we have the reach to provide professional support to our client schools and deliver teachers from source. TFA Education was set up to help schools meet all of their recruitment and hiring needs. We have a large database of teachers, education managers and leaders, along with candidates who can fill roles with more of an administrative focus.

Our mission is to be the number one education recruitment company in Asia and to continue our expansion in Europe and the Middle East. Our diverse team brings years of experience and a professional attitude to every element of our business. We are proud to have many leading schools and educational organizations as our clients.

Clients

TFA Education Group have many high profile and satisfied client schools throughout Europe, Middle East & Asia. We work with major educational organizations including universities, international schools, private academies and public schools, having provided the following:

- Principals
- Head teachers
- Specialist subject teachers
- English language teachers
- Professional certified teachers

Candidates

We have built up one of the largest specialist databases in the industry and our team of highly trained recruitment consultants regularly engage with our candidates, both those currently in positions and those looking for their next teaching position. We understand how important a quality teacher is for each of our valued clients. We aim to build trust and a lasting relationship with the teachers who put their belief in us to provide a great opportunity for them to teach in another country. Many candidates stay with us for subsequent roles and their testimonials show we are delivering on our goals to provide the best and most professional recruitment service.

As a testament to the quality of our process, a large percentage of our teachers sign contracts for subsequent years with the school they are placed in, so many international schools and organizations look at this as a long term investment to help build a strong academic staff for the future.

Why choose TFA Education?

- Strong team with diverse backgrounds
- Large dynamic database of quality candidates
- Experience operating in multiple markets
- Competitive pricing
- Multiple high end services
- Excellent track record

2. TRAINING

Central to TFA Education is our service to both our schools and professional teachers. Our relationship with each is essential to what we do. Aligning our training capabilities with the demands and opportunities presented in international education is a key area for our ongoing development as a company.

As we develop, we are teaming up with new strategic partners to offer a variety of courses such as those listed below for both faculty and students. Training is provided both online and through our blended learning.

- English proficiency testing
- Literacy & Numeracy Strategies
- Online A-Level tuition for your school
- Classroom Management
- Blended Teaching English as a Foreign Language courses
- Leadership in Education
- Language & Culture for new teachers

3. STUDY ABROAD

We work closely with our strategic partner in Ireland and UK to provide a high-end Study Abroad service. Through our partner, we have access to top quality and unique summer programmes.

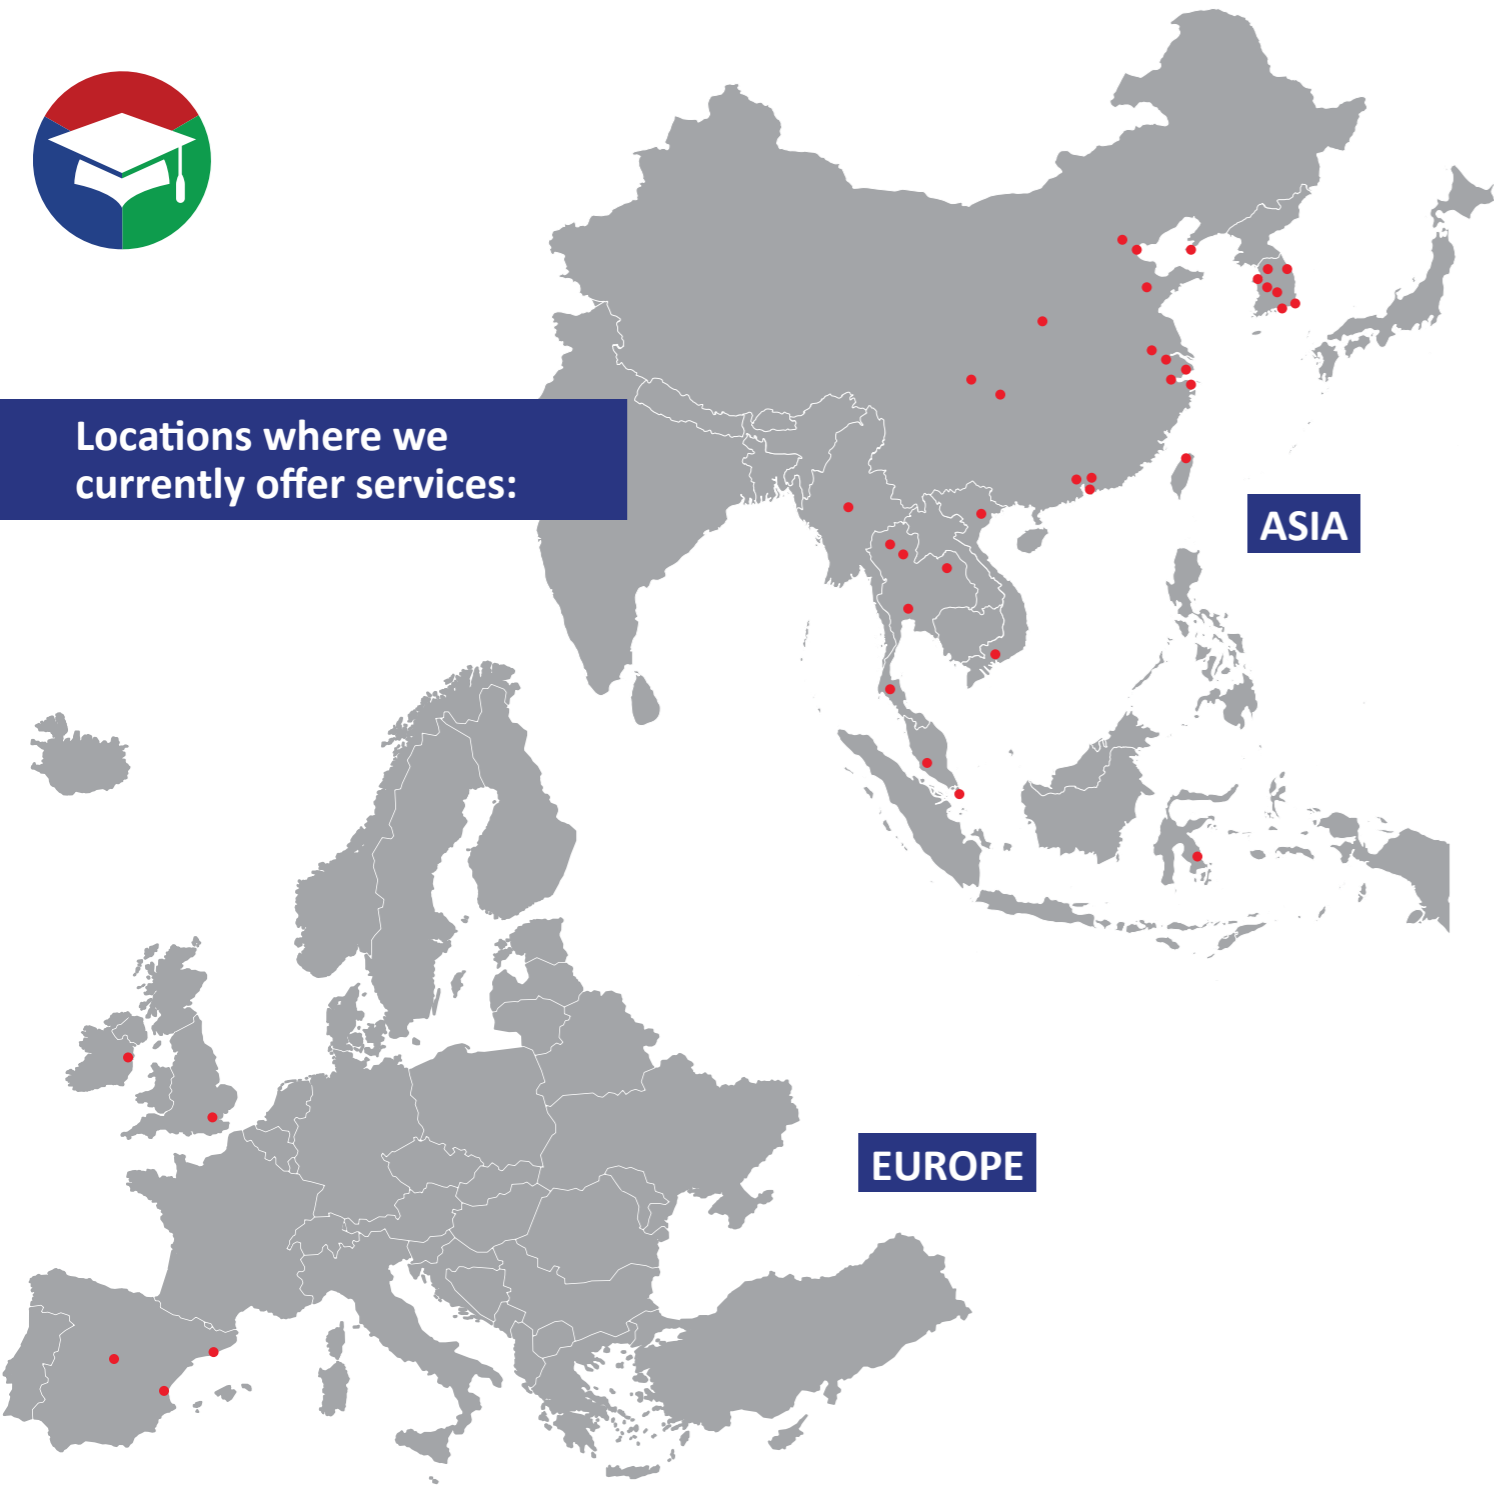

In addition to this, we can also offer year-round academic year placements in the top schools in Ireland.

All of the available programmes boast high quality host family and residential accommodation. Our partner has confidently classed itself as being different, innovating and exciting – paperless lessons, the use of 1:1 tablet devices, all students develop an individual e-portfolio, strong link between lessons and activities, app development lessons, fun outdoor activities, web design modules and more.
